Hansen Family Award 2017: Nomination Call

November 29, 2016

Dear Honored Member of the Nomination Group:

We have the great pleasure to invite you to nominate candidates for the Hansen Family Award 2017.

The foundation presents the Hansen Family Award every 2nd year with a prize money of 75.000€ to scientists in German-speaking countries for pioneering research in scientific areas related to medical science and medicine, particularly in the fields of medicinal chemistry, human genetics, active substance research, red biotechnology, genetic engineering, cell physiology, structural biology, or bioinformatics.

The foundation is particularly looking for frontier research with the potential to drive innovation in health and medicine for the long-term benefit of patients.

Further information about the award and previous winners can be found in the attachment and here: www.bayer-foundations.com

Should you decide to accept our invitation for nominations, please submit your candidate proposal until

January 16, 2017

by returning the attached form to the Bayer Foundation Office.
